

Check out arts, crafts at Greenville Library, June 14

The Friends of Greenville Library will host its third annual craft fair and festival on the library's lawn Saturday, June 14, rain or shine. There's guaranteed to be something for everyone here, including prints, photographs, children's books and toys, pottery, jewelry, crocheted and quilted goods, giftware, tie-dyed items, herbs, incense, oils, folk art, t-shirts and much more.

Or, if shopping isn't your thing, enjoy a variety of sweet treats to eat and drink or just sit back and enjoy the fresh, county air while listening to a mix of family-friendly music provided by Jonathan the DJ.

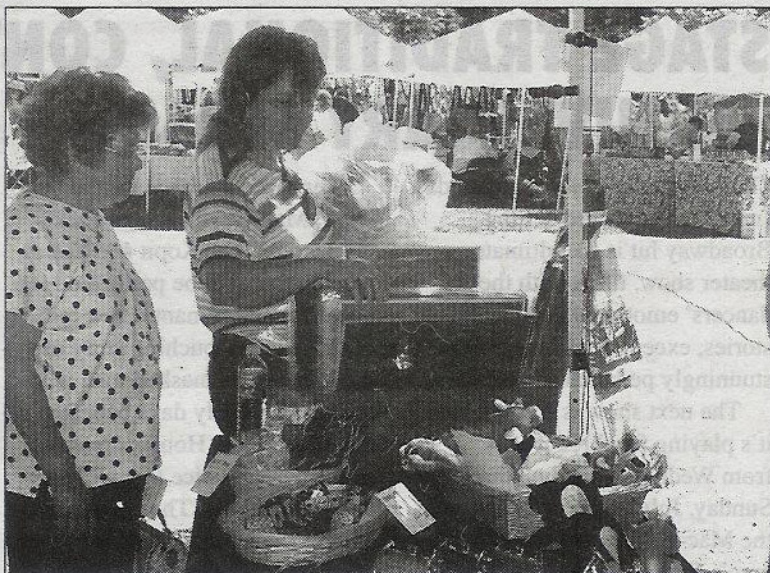

What began as an opportunity to augment its annual book sale has grown into one of the region's best venues for artisans and crafters to display their work. Last year's event attracted nearly 50 vendors who offered a wide variety of handmade crafts, home decor items, gifts and more. This year's festival promises to be even bigger. In keeping with the event's character, the Friends will have its own booth filled with handmade items for sale. Girl Scout Troop 1527 will be holding a bake sale and several vendors will be offering exotic plants and other items for the home. An up-to-date list of vendors and exhibitors is available at www.mentgroup.com/event.htm.

Admission to the craft fair and festival is free, and ample, free parking is available.

The library is located near the intersection of Rt. 32 and Rt. 81 in Greenville, N.Y. The Friends of Greenville Library is an organization dedicated to assisting the library with its fundraising efforts and other needs. For more details about this event, please call 518.589.5765.

Hudson-Catskill Newspapers' Spring & Summer Destinations

Destinations

contributed photo

Shoppers leaf through a box of prints during the Second Annual Friends of the Greenville Library Craft Fair and Festival